It was once upon a time. Not quite such a very long time ago. About 150 years.

William was a barber. Penhaligon was his name.

He had left behind his Cornish sea, took a train and before long was hanging the sign with his name above the new barber's shop on Jermyn Street.

What was to follow was a haze of fragrant dreams.

So this is love. An intoxicating, mysterious fragrance: Vigorous grapefruit, Levantine spice and rose tangle in the moonlight. But what's that upon the riverbank? Could it be the fabled black rose?
